

What is...?

Barley

Barley is a major cereal grain used in animal feed, food, and in malt for food, beer and other beverages.

Malt

Malt is produced from barley and other cereals. The malting process creates enzymes required for modifying starches into sugars.

Barley for Malt

Although a variety of grains including wheat, rye, oats, millet, sorghum, rice and corn have all been used for brewing, barley is the preferred grain for beer.

U.S. GRAINS & BIOPRODUCTS
COUNCIL

grains.org